BRIGAND

When the skills and experience of the world's leading caravan manufacturers and Europe's biggest commercial vehicle builders are combined, the result can be expected to be pretty unique. Such is the case with the Bedford Brigand by C. I. Autohomes a highly sophisticated leisure vehicle that doubles as stylish, every-day transport.

Based on the famous Bedford CF chassis, the Brigand has an unmistakable air of quality, inside and out. Smart lines, glistening paintwork with discreet touches of chrome place it high on the list for good looks. Thorough insulation of the roof and body sides makes it the ideal holiday home for the widest range of climates.

The Brigand is the product of designers, all of whom are experienced caravanners themselves. Their approach, therefore, is strictly practical—and their ingenuity has created that brilliant use of space so vital to comfort. The Parkstone elevating roof is easily raised in seconds to give over 6 ft of standing room plus extra light and ventilation. Its rigid construction is proof against gale force winds, and the built-in insulation protects against the extremes of heat and cold.

In daytime, or at night, the Brigand offers luxurious accommodation for four adults. Converting the dinette into a comfortable double bed—or two forward facing seats for travelling—is a smooth, quick operation. Its unique, sliding action sees to that. And the two separate upper bunks give full-stretch sleeping comfort; then roll away when not in use.

Storage space, too has been used superbly; just open the cupboards and underseat lockers and you'll see what we mean. Even the rear doors have built-in storage compartments, and there's a generous size wardrobe for clothes. An adjacent recess takes the optional gas refrigerator, and there's a large dresser above with a cupboard to the side. Kitchen equipment includes a two-burner cooker and grill, sink with drainer, and an electric pump to bring water from the huge 16 gallon underfloor water tank.

The generously cut curtains sweep around to give complete privacy, and two fluorescent lights (transistorised to save your battery) add to the snug, cosy atmosphere.

On the move, the Brigand handles just like a car. The commanding driving position, precise rack and pinion steering, light gearchange and all controls within easy reach ensure freedom from driving fatigue. The cab itself is superbly styled—body contoured seats, arm rests, padded dash, headlining, floor carpeting and extensive sound insulation—and with walk-through access to the rear.

That's just an outline guide to the Brigand. Its quality and value go much deeper. Even with its extensive luxury specification it costs no more than a medium-size car, but offers more leisure freedom than you ever imagined possible.
